H. L. Hubbard.

The subject of this piece is a man who is affectionately known as "Bunk" to his friends, or "Mr. W. A. Glass, 473 Sumner Street," to his business associates. Bunk is a native of Portland and has been associated with this city and its newspaper and publishing business for over 18 years. His subject, the Advocate, has been a legal newspaper and has seen many changes during this time.

Bunk's wide experience, which began in his youth, has given him a keen insight into the workings of the world and its problems. He has been a leader in many civic and social organizations and has been a source of inspiration to many in the city of Portland and throughout Oregon.

In addition to his newspaper work, Bunk has been actively involved in the sport of baseball, serving as the manager and owner of the Portland Giants for two years. During this time, the Giants were known as one of the best teams in the country, and Bunk's leadership was instrumental in their success.

Bunk's personal life is also notable. He is a Mason and a member of several fraternal organizations. He is also a sportsman and is known for his love of the outdoors and his passion for hunting and fishing.

Bunk is not only a successful businessman and civic leader, but he is also a devoted husband and father. He is married to Mrs. Carolyn Morgan, and they have been happily married for over 50 years. Bunk and Carolyn have raised four children, all of whom have followed in their father's footsteps and have become leaders in their own right.

Bunk's legacy is one of dedication, hard work, and a commitment to excellence. He is a true American success story, and his contributions to Portland and Oregon will be remembered for generations to come.

A Glance on the Progress of the Afro-Americans in Portland.

Portland is the largest city in the State of Oregon and is situated on the beautiful Willamette River. It is noted for its elegant homes, abundant flowers and its manufacturing establishments. It has a population of about 250,000. About 2000 of its people are colored. The majority of these are Protestant and belong to the various denominations which have their religious edifices for the most part are substantial buildings and some of them will be erected soon and probably there will be erected two, and probably three, magnificent church edifices.

The ministers of these churches are men of character and ability and rank with the best in any part of the country.

Two doctors stand high in their profession and are skilled in the art of medicine and are an honor to the race.

PORTLAND'S GIANTS OF 1911.

The club courage, grit, snap, ability and headwork, coupled with the best or team-had the distinction of playing in its own enclosed park when at home, which is also worthy of note in these parts.

Like the well-known Oak "mountain" of a few years ago, these boys could play close, holding those two until the "break" in a game came. These boys would rise to the occasion time after time, batting like a son and First Baseman Pierce, who is also away Giants, who played out here last spring, were willing to stay here and cooperate.
