ELECTIONS U. S. A.

The election has passed into American history. Now that it is over, the name-calling in direct phrases and the undoes, we take stock of the role we played in the making of a President and lesser officials throughout Oregon and this broad, grand and glorious U. S. A.

I have listened to mud, real dirty mud, splatter in high and low places, and over some very saintly faces. We have pondered the veracity of the multitudinous accusers, and the truth encouched in the accusations. We have striven to discern the thread of fact that winds its meandering course through the many-hued fabric. Sometime we have lost trace of solid fact, and, at other times, we were shrouded with doubt by what we read and heard, and lost our way. President Johnson, by winning a landslide victory, and by having carried into the nation's lesser offices many devotees of his party, is in a most favorable position to implement the caliber of program he has promised the nation.

If we harbored any misgivings about Mr. Johnson as a man — a human with a heart, these were dispelled after watching his chat with a representative group of ladies last Monday night. Mr. Johnson's down-to-earth manner with the ladies in this informal chat pointed the stress and mental strain with which a president is beset in seeking answers to the many knotty problems affecting the nation and the world.

He recognized that some of the decisions might not have been the most perfect but they were the best that his "brain-trust" could devise, and represented his best judgement, although the president's discourse is not the most fluent, his honesty, human, home-like presentations instill confidence. We would venture to suggest that this informal question and answer session garnered an appreciable vote for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket. We learn more of the things we want to know about people in informal contact.

Many of the "ghosts" we dread, never really exist. So it was with the "White back lash", that resentment of whites of the civil rights legislation, that was supposed to rally desenters, to the camp of Goldwater.

We noted with satisfaction that the maturity of the Negro is of such that he can vote off a southern-white for the presidency. We have heard vows that such a thing would never happen. Conditions are really "getting better."

The "post Kennedy" team of Johnson-Humphrey holds high the lamp of home for human rights. Let us recognize — singly and collectively — our responsibility to assist in every possible way to maintain the hope and aims of this administration, and the millions of humans who are certain to be ill-affected, should it falter. Businessmen, housewives, school children, and the aged, are in some way, affected by the projected program of the present administration, and the responsibility devolves upon all of us for its forthright implementation.

Locally the election went quite well. We are happy over the outcome — generally. Especially noted was the treatment accorded the Attorney General (Mr. Thornton), Edith Green, Si Cohn (County Clerk), Phil Roth as Judge of Circuit Court and Judge Hollman. We wanted Corbett as Secretary of State but Tom McCall is a good man also. We wanted the Dome, but we cannot have everything. Such are elections U. S. A.

VICE PRESIDENT-ELECT HUBERT HUMPHREY

DAY-CARE CENTER

The 'War on Poverty' Bill urges that the poor themselves take the initiative in deciding where the 'War on Poverty' funds are most needed, and in proposing projects for community action. With this in mind, a group of young mothers from the Albina Neighborhood has started a movement for a free day-care center. Such a center, we believe, is the most pressing need in our community.

A day-care center would not only provide free baby-sitting for working mothers, increasing their take-home pay; it would also make it possible for young mothers to return to school, or to look for work, or to get some job training without sacrificing the health and happiness of their pre-school children.

Besides the obvious benefits to the mothers, consider the value to children of a day-care center. Over 10% of the Albina population is under 5 years of age. The poverty of their parents subjects these small children to a hard childhood often with not enough to eat, not enough attention and no real preparation for attending school. A day-care center would provide hot lunches, supervised play, health check-ups and a much-needed program of kindergarten training.

We have been watching with interest President Johnson's first steps to combat poverty. Our reaction as young Negroes has been skeptical, perhaps even suspicious, about the motivation behind the 'War on Poverty'. But, regardless of the motives of the politicians, this is one war we can all fight with good conscience for the gains that are made will be our gains. And we will make real gains, if we take the field now. But if we sit by and rely on the rich and the white to conduct this war, we can consider it lost from the start.

The only force that can guarantee 'War on Poverty' money for this project is an organized campaign by the people most concerned with the problem — young women with small children living in Albina. Now we have only a token movement; only 8 or 10 young women are actively involved. Over 100 mothers from Albina have signed our petition for a free day-care center, but we need more than names. We need minds and bodies helping organize the movement. We have found some feeling that the average mother is not needed, that the 'responsible community leaders' must provide the leadership. This is not true. It is the people who would directly benefit from a day-care center that are the best able to lead the movement.

Many of you will probably see us in the next few days, either at your Church or on your doorstep, asking for your help and support. But, don't feel that you should wait to be personally invited to take part in this work, call us right now and volunteer.

Call Marcell O'Neal, 4617 N. Albina — 284-8467 or Debby Rhodes, 4326 N. Albina — 284-8116 for information.

UGN Drive Near Goal

The Tri-County United Good Neighbors drive for $3,762,370 Thursday came within $128,685 of the goal, it was revealed at the seventh and final report luncheon at the Multnomah Hotel. The amount reported was $3,633,685.70, or 96.6 per cent of the goal.

Cecil E. Newman poses for photo at Billy Webb Elks Hall I. B. P. O. E. O. F. W. No. 1050 with Exalted Ruler Curtis L. McDonald and Education Chairman Louis E. Scott. Cecil was really impressed with our local elks.

Mr. A. W. Denton, The Most Worshipful Grand Master of Mason P. H., Cecil Newman and Clifford Jackson M. M. Mr. Newman stopped in on the close of the 73rd anniversary of the Enterprize Lodge Prince Hall Mason F & AM. It looks to have been a grand affair.

In town with Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey was Cecil E. Newman, Editor-Publisher of the Minneapolis Spokesman and the St. Paul Recorder. Mr. Newman was the first editor in the nation to endorse Vice-President Humphrey back in 1944 as Mayor of Minneapolis, where Mr. Humphrey served for two terms. He was endorsed again by Mr. Newman and two newspapers and was elected to the United States Senate in 1948. Mr. Humphrey has been senate majority whip since 1961 on Civil Rights. Mr. Vice-President says, "If freedom becomes a full reality in America, we can dare to believe that it will become a reality everywhere. If freedom fails here, what hope can we have for it surviving elsewhere."

Oregonian Convicted Of Murder In '32 Wins Reversal Of Decision In Court

SALEM (Special) — An Oregon man who has spent more than a third of his life in prison for a murder he claims he didn't commit, has had that conviction set aside.

Circuit Judge George Jones Wednesday erased the 32-year-old first degree murder conviction from the record of Theodore (Teddy) Jordan.

Jordan, now an inmate at the state penitentiary, was convicted in 1932 of the bludgeoning slaying of a railroad steward in Klamath Falls.

Parole Violated

He served 22 years and was paroled 10 years ago. Last year Jordan was arrested in Portland for shoplifting.

While an appeal on the shoplifting charge was pending, he by law, must be granted with violated his parole on the life in 90 days of application. Jordan sentence by leaving the state without consent of the Parole Board.

He was apprehended, his parole was revoked and he was returned to the penitentiary to serve the remainder of the life sentence.

The Oregon Supreme Court confirmed the shoplifting charge after Jordan's return to prison and sentenced him to three years in prison, to be served concurrently with the life sentence.

Judge Jones acted in response to a petition for post-conviction relief filed in Jordan's behalf by the public defender, Lawrence A. Aschenbrenner.

Aschenbrenner said he will ask for a speedy trial which, lifting charge was pending, he by law, must be granted with violated his parole on the life in 90 days of application. Jordan dan will remain in prison until the trial.

Dale Crabtree, district attorney of Klamath County, Thursday said that, as far as he knew, there were no living witnesses who could be called for a trial.

Crabtree Comments

"Until we check our files on this case," Crabtree said, "we plan to withhold any decision on whether to try this man again."

Jordan was sentenced to hang for the murder of F. T. Sullivan, a fellow employee on the Southern Pacific Railroad.

A public clamor rose after Jordan's trial and sentencing. Gov. Julius Meier appointed a special commission to conduct an inquiry into the case. The commission recommended Jordan's death sentence — twice upheld by the state Supreme Court — be commuted to life imprisonment and Gov. Meier complied.

The public defender based his appeal for post-conviction relief on a federal court decision which stated: "... To require a defendant to waive his federal right against self-incrimination in order to vindicate his federal right not to be convicted through the use of an involuntary confession would, in and of itself, constitute a violation of the protection afforded by the 14th Amendment."

Beating Claimed

There was evidence at Jordan's trial that he was beaten up by police after his arrest.

He repudiated a confession and was required to waive his right against self-incrimination by testifying before the jury about the voluntariness of that confession.

The U. S. Supreme Court has held that a trial judge must not allow the jury to determine both the voluntariness and the credibility of a confession. The judge must first determine, away from the jury, if a confession is voluntary and thus admissible, and, if so, submit its credibility to the jury.

Lawyers Appeal Dope Case Trial

Attorneys for Rennie Wright, 34, 4335 NE 14th Ave., convicted on three counts of selling narcotics in Federal Court last Friday, filed a motion for a new trial Wednesday.

The motion asserts illegally obtained evidence was introduced at the trial, that the government suppressed evidence favorable to Wright, that the court erred in an instruction to the jury and that the prosecutor made an improper statement.

Wright was found guilty by a jury of selling heroin to a federal undercover agent after a trial lasting two days, before U.S. Dist. Judge William G. East.

Committee Reports JOB WELL DONE

The Committee on Race and Education, chaired by Judge Schwab, has just issued an elaborate report on Race and equal educational opportunity in the public schools of Portland. This committee was appointed by the Portland School Board to find factual answers to questions asked Nationally and in the greater Portland area, relevant to inequities known to exist in racially, culturally, and economically imbalanced schools. This comprehensive report seeks to determine the extent of deprivation of educational opportunities of one race, in relation to those extended to other races, and offer corrective measures.

The committee's roster contains the names of many Portland's exponents of fair play, and equality of opportunity, among whom are: Hon. Edward J. Wheland, E. Shelton Hill, Pt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Tobin, Michael J. Frey, Mrs. Mercedes F. Deiz, Ira C. Keller, Dr. David Tyack, Dr. George V. Guy, Rev. Paul E. Waldschmidt, Tom McCall, Dr. Walter C. Reynolds, and many other Civic-minded Portlanders, long known to be vitally interested in the betterment of the socio-economic and educational structure, locally. One of the six sub-committees traveled to St. Louis, Detroit, and as far as New York City in its investigative endeavor relative to disadvantaged schools, and students. Much of the cause of disadvantage found in the school systems of Portland and other Cities is environmental, made so because Negroes as well as other groups, not necessarily racial, tend to live in one section of the city.

The home environment of the six-year old, the fact that it spends much of each school day each school year beyond the influence of the school, is almost certain to indelibly stamp the child with its home-pattern, and if the Community's attitude toward the child and its family is adverse, his relationships with the school, his associates and teachers suffer. The performance of a school drops appreciably, when there are significant numbers of such children, thus, the committee finds that the home, the child, the school and the community become victims of environment.

Race and Educational opportunity in Portland's Public School District No. 1 by its Committee on Race and Education, chaired by Judge Herbert M. Schwab, is an extensive work, minutely researched, intelligently written on a common-sense level, and lends itself, very well, to the circle of a "Must" in reading designed to inform all who are interested in a concise picture of Portland's school system's dilemma.

Our sincere thanks to Judge Schwab and his committee for a job well done.

King's Glory

When President Johnson sent Dr. Martin Luther King a message stating that his winning the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize was a tribute "to the leadership you (King) have given to the movement for individual dignity and equality of opportunity," our nation's Chief Executive was reflecting expressions of commendation which resounded around the world.

Included in the flood of telegrams were words and congratulations of praise from most of the nations of the globe, including India, Nigeria, Brazil, Guinea and Germany.

When the news flashed over our UPI wire that Dr. King had been selected for this incomparable honor, over even such internationally-famous notables as former President Eisenhower, French President Charles de Gaulle, Sir Anthony Eden and former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, our thoughts reverted to the day when we believe Dr. King lived his "finest hour."

Some may feel that Rev. King's greatest hour of triumph was when he won in the memorable long walk against discrimination in the Montgomery bus strike. Others may feel that it came when he wrote his famous letter to the outside world while confined in a dingy Alabama jail revealing his protests against racial injustices.

But we believe we saw Dr. Martin Luther King in his "finest hour" when he addressed that great interracial gathering of more than 200,000 during that memorable March on Washington on Aug. 29 of 1963. His speech brought cheers and tears from millions in D.C. and before the television sets of America as he dramatically exclaimed "I Have a Dream."

It was a dream that the civil rights bill would pass, and it was a dream that a new era was unfolding for full freedom and justice for twenty million Americans who had been denied a chance to cash in on the Bill of Rights' pledge of equality of opportunity for all of our citizens.

Prophetically, late that day, the lamented President Kennedy appraised the March on Washington this way:

"The cause of 20 million Negroes has been advanced by the program conducted so appropriately before the Nation's shrine to the Great Emancipator, but even more significant, is the contribution to all mankind."

We sincerely congratulate Dr. King on his cherished Nobel Peace Prize but we still believe that he lived his "finest hour" during that memorable, climatic speech during the historic March on Washington.

Mable Dixon and Idella H. Wayne, President. Guests attending were: Mrs. Knowels, little Miss Jesia Owens, Mrs. Russa Mae Lewis, Mrs. Abbie Cantrell, Mrs. Roberta Blackburne, Mrs. Maggie Mitchell, Mrs. Mary Bass and Mrs. Roberta Vann. Each member was presented with a handmade Rosebud, by Heneretta Marshall and a club year book by Mrs. Wayne, club president.

Meeting for the Pioneer Birthday Club was held in the home of Mrs. Susie Eastman for the Month of October. Honored guest was members having birthdays in October.

The Aklahoma Ambassador Club will present their First Annual Formal Ball, Saturday, November 14th, from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m. at the "Top of the Cosmo". Presentation of members will begin at 12 o'clock. By invitation only.

Friday evening October 30th saw a large crowd attending the Pre-Halloween Party given by members of Billy Webb Lodge No. 1050 and Dahlia Temple No. 202 Brother and Daughter Elks. Some of the guests were in costumes which added color to the affair. Dancing was the main feature of the evening, although several of the guests spent the time in Gay-Chatter. Music was presented by Walter Hines.

The many friends of Mrs. Lillian Baker, were sorry to hear of her fatal heart attack last Saturday evening. Mrs. Baker is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Golden Bogle, grandson Richard Bogle, Jr., granddaughter Linda P. Ward, and three great-grandchildren, all of Portland, and sister Mrs. Mary Chaney of California. Services were held at Bethel A. M. E. Church, where she's been a member for many years. Interment was in Rose City Cemetery.

LESLIE UGGAMS

Sing-Along Star Booked

Leslie Uggams, singing star of the Mitch Miller TV show, will appear as the headline attraction of the Portland Auto Show, scheduled for Nov. 24-29 in Memorial Coliseum.

The 21-year-old singer will head a four-act bill during the six-day run of the Auto Show. She will come to Portland direct from an engagement in the Empire Room of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City.

Miss Uggams made her first TV appearance when she was seven, later attracting national attention as a teenage contestant on "Name That Tune." The daughter of professional entertainers, Miss Uggams has been a student at the Juillard School of Music in New York.

She has been signed for five guest appearances this season on the Ed Sullivan Show, one of them just before the Auto Show opens here.
