Speaker Talks On Intergroup School Work

By Joy Brock

Miss Gertrude Noar, an expert on intergroup education, was guest speaker to the educational committee of the Urban league. She was asked to speak on two main topics, "Philosophy of Intergroup Education" and "The Role of Community Organizations in Assisting the Public School to Improve Intergroup Relations."

"Cultural pluralism means that teachers must learn more about the makeup of our American society in order to understand children as individuals," were Miss Noar's opening words. She said we cannot teach children as though they were all alike. We must know differences that children bring with them from society.

She further stated that teachers must know about anthropology and the facts about racial concepts. The knowledge of similarities and differences in religion is also important.

Miss Noar stressed that when the teacher accepts everybody, she sets the pattern for the children. They learn whom to accept and reject from attitudes of teachers.

Parents Have Role

Too many people refute the "Modern Educational Program," without having the initiative to find out the facts, she stated. Parents have a role to see what kind of teaching her child is receiving. Non-parents have a role too, knowing what goes on in schools and not to criticize blindly. Committees interested should know the answers to critics of modern education, Miss Noar pointed out.

She revealed that many persons schooled by traditional educational methods are convinced that the way to learn is by drill, by history, by listening to lectures, by teachers, and by reading textbooks and answering questions. She further stated that our generation was not brought up to understand social action. Nobody was supposed to do anything.

Recommends Book

Through modern education the child is able to visit and see his community in action, not just through books. It becomes more realistic to him and has more meaning. This, she said, is real education which enables every child to learn. She concluded by mentioning an exciting book, "Children Object," by Sarah Holbrook, which she urged interested persons to read.

Miss Noar is presently the Educational Consultant with the Anti-Defamation league of New York City. She has had wide experience as a teacher on the public school and college levels. She has been a school principal and education specialist in some of the nation's top intergroup and human relations workshops.

The meeting was held last Thursday evening in the Social hall, Hawthorne building at Washington high school, under the direction of Nathan Burkham, Educational chairman.

Portland Couple Relive Wedding Day During 25th Anniversary Celebration

This nostalgic scene brought back old memories to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Green, 908 N. E. Occident street. Included in their 25th wedding anniversary celebration were, left to right, Rev. J. J. Clow, Bernard Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Green, Mrs. Bernard Friday and Mrs. Sandy Stewart.

By Katherine Bogle

To be counted among the silver-wedded couples are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Green who celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Saturday evening, October 18.

About 50 friends called at the Green residence to congratulate the pair and to be present when they renewed their marriage vows before Rev. J. J. Clow. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Friday attended the

Knife Skirmishes Get No Protests

Three men and one woman were injured by weapons in separate altercations over the past week end. In three cases there were no arrests or charges preferred.

Van R. Harper, 32, 1510 NE 1st avenue, was wounded in front of Art's Barbecue, 1461 N. Williams avenue. He was shot through the shoulder by Arthur J. Etheridge, special patrolman, who told police that Harper attempted to stab him after having an argument inside the restaurant.

Harper was held on $3000 bail and charged with assault with a dangerous weapon Sunday morning after the altercation. He, however, denied having any fight with Etheridge and said he didn't know why the officer shot him.

Howard L. Gentry, 25, 2836 N.E. Rodney avenue, suffered face and shoulder lacerations during a set-to in front of Nance's Barbecue Pit, 31 N.E. Cherry court. Identity of the assailant was not determined. Gentry was treated Sunday morning at the Emanuel hospital. He preferred no charges.

Responsible for the slashing of his wife, Birdie, is Joseph J. Pevy, 49, 2521 S.W. 2nd avenue. Mrs. Pevy was treated at St. Vincent's hospital Saturday evening. No complaint was signed.

Margaret Danials, 5932 N. Fessenden street, was identified by police as being the knife assailant of Azor L. McElroy, 34, 4043 N. Haight avenue, Sunday. Stabbed in the leg, McElroy was treated at the Emanuel hospital. No charges were preferred.

"bridegroom" and "bride." Mrs. Green wore a white crepe gown and her corsage was of carnations.

Mrs. Clarence Crowe was soloist at the affair.

The reception table, lovely in its snowy white and silver appointments, had for its centerpiece a three-tiered wedding cake. Receiving guests were Mrs. Zack Phillips and Mrs. R. Boles. Pouring were Mrs. Cora Minor and Mrs. Clyde White. Assisting about the rooms were Mesdames Irving Allen, Willie Weber, Jerome Myers, John Evans, L. C. Mickels, Charles Walker, Willie Hopkins and Wanzer Myers.

Mrs. Sandy Stewart, who was

Oregon Gridder Get Friars' Bid

Emmett Williams, stellar first string guard of the Webfoot football team, has been tapped for membership to the Friars, University of Oregon senior honor student society. Williams was one of seven students selected for the outstanding honor this week.

From Chicago, Illinois, Williams has attended the university for three years. Besides playing football he is also active in other extra-curricular activities and is assistant counselor of his dormitory hall.

Last spring Williams was selected for membership to Phi Epsilon Kappa, physical education honorary, and elected secretary. Among other qualifications the Friars select members on the basis of scholastic achievement and extra-curricular activity. One other Negro, Bobby Reynolds, was selected for Friar membership in 1945.

Mann-Allen Wed

Miss Billy Jean Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Allen, 802 N. E. Hancock street, became Mrs. Kenny Wendall Mann, in a wedding ceremony before a Vancouver justice of the peace November 7.

Mann is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mann, formerly of Portland but now of Bremerton, Washington.

present as a guest at the original ceremony 25 years ago in San Antonio, came up on this occasion from her present home in Oakland to offer her felicitations once again to the Greens.

Plummer Misses In Political Try

Supporters of Herman C. Plummer, Portland realtor, who ran for the House of Representatives on the November 4 Oregon ballot, expressed encouragement over the showing of their candidate despite his failure to win a seat in the Oregon legislature.

They felt that Plummer could have made a better showing if the national trend hadn't been toward "cleaning up the Democratic mess" in Washington. They point to the fact that only two Democrats made the House of Representatives in Oregon.

Even though this was Plummer's first crack at Oregon politics, he managed to garner more votes than some of the past, more widely-known candidates. This fact his supporters viewed with significance.

Plummer expressed his appreciation to the people for the enthusiasm and support he received while campaigning in a telephone message to the Portland Challenger. He is undecided as to whether he will run for office in 1954. "It depends on the situation two years from now," stated Plummer.

Unofficial Oregon Journal tabulations show Plummer with 88,128 votes and places him 19th in a field of 26 candidates. In order to gain a seat in the Oregon state legislature the candidate had to place among the first 13 aspirants.

AME Zion's New Minister Arrives Here

Here in Portland to take over the pastorate of the AME Zion church at 2007 N. Williams avenue is the Rev. J. M. Roberts. He brings with him his wife Evelyn and 5-month-old son Frank from Palo Alto, Calif. Rev. Roberts takes over the vacancy left by James F. Smith who is now a minister in Asheville, N. C. Rev. Roberts preached his first sermon when he was only 16 years old. He was born in Cedar Creek, Texas, and graduated from St. Johns Industrial Institute in Austin, Texas. He later attended Virginia Union university in Richmond, Va.

Returns to School

Prior to his post at Palo Alto, Rev. Roberts held pastorates in Lima, Fresno, Sacramento and San Jose, Calif. While in California he took post graduate work at San Jose State college. Following this work he was assigned to Russellville, Ky.

Mrs. Roberts was active in Palo Alto as the first vice-president of the Palo Alto Council of Church Women and served as secretary of the Palo Alto League of Women Voters.

She was born in Paris, Ky., and graduated from Kentucky State college at Frankfort. In college she majored in history.

Here 14 Years

The Rev. J. F. Smith had served in Portland at the AME Zion for 14 years. He is currently the minister of St. Luke's AME church in Asheville, N. C. He took over the pastor's duties of this church July 27.

He took special training at Lewis and Clark college in pursuit of a degree.

The Rev. H. P. Langford of Palo Alto took his place until the arrival of Rev. J. M. Roberts.

Otto Rutherford Explains NAACP

At the regular monthly forum of the Friendship House, 3310 N. Williams avenue, Monday evening, Otto Rutherford, president of the local NAACP was guest speaker. About 15 persons were present.

Rutherford outlined the history of the local NAACP chapter and explained the organization and purpose of the civic group.

In describing the place of the group in carrying on the fight for minority rights, the president explained that while the Urban League was primarily concerned with employment problems, the NAACP was more generally for civil rights.

In a lively question and answer session following the address, many interesting facts concerning the activities of the local chapter were brought out.

Rutherford emphasized that fact that the local NAACP chapter needs more members.

Letter to Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

First, permit me to congratulate you for your aggressive undertaking. I have read every issue of your publication since you started circulating it. I have appreciated the stands that you have taken on various issues. I regretted seeing the huge column of propaganda sponsored by the gambling interests in our great state. However, I realize that in the newspaper business one can hardly refuse advertisement from any source, therefore I forgive you for that.

I look forward eagerly to the day when your enterprising journal will have a regular Church News Editor. I note that you have the various other editors.

I am pledging to you my full support in any matter relative to the progress of your paper. Please feel free to call on me at any time.

Primary purpose of the tea will be to acquaint Portlanders with the sorority.

Members of the sorority are Mmes. Beatrice Leverett, Pollanna Reed, Margaret Marshall, Carmen Walker and Miss Marceline Casey.

All are welcome to attend.

News In Brief

By William Wright
Challenger Staff Writer

Bethel AME church has a new paint job, a parsonage buff with green trim, thanks to this foursome: Rev. Jesse Boyd, Duke Jackson, Ross Newby and George Holliday. According to them, the church stands to save between $400 and $600.

The next door neighbor of Mt. Sinai Interracial church has erected a picket fence to mark (or separate) the property line. This happened shortly after the Mt. Sinai group moved into the former Jewish dwelling on N. E. 20th avenue and Going street.

Jim Thompson finally got his stolen auto back. The car was stolen from him while he was working at the Union station. His car was parked right next to an unlocked "Dancey" cadillac in the station parkin area! . . . Shortly after he received his car, he had an accident with the sister-in-law of the original owner! Thompson's car was located in Spokane, Washington.

Out of the city visiting with her son and daughter-in-law in Texas is Mrs. Willie Cherry . . . James N. Cantrell, 3203 S. E. Tibbets street, is still at home recuperating from a ladder fall that fractured his left ankle.

Out of the hospital and playing seven-man football again with Benny's Frat House is Charles "Chuck" Gragg. The diminutive Gragg was confined to Good Samaritan hospital with pneumonia.

The Kenneth Hensons are having a home built and plan to move in within the next three months. They are currently residing at the home of Mrs. Henson's mother, Mrs. Beatrice Mott on Vancouver avenue . . . The Hensons are one of the many families hit by the recent ruling of the Portland Housing Authority regarding wage earners.

The Oscar Hayneses have moved into their newly purchased home on Cleveland avenue near Prescott street and shortly after moving in held a "house warming." Over to wish them a happy home life were a group of friends—mostly Kappa friends of Haynes—and a few gifts were afforded the couple.

Baby time department: The former Miss Ellen Woods, this time a girl. Also the Wirt Mortons . . . Demand rights department: Belton Hamilton won the right to three free dance lessons at the Veloz & Yolanda dance studio by virtue of naming the correct title to a record on one of the city's disc jockey programs. When he applied for his lessons he was told that there were no girls available to teach HIM. "Lawyer" Hamp said that there would be or he would have to sue the studio for breach of contract. Whereupon the studio furnished Mr. Hamilton with a teacher.

After he finished his three lessons, Hamilton taught the teachers some lessons of his own, including one in race relations!

Mrs. Saloni McDougald, sister-in-law of Cornell McDougald, 216 N. E. Clackamas street, is visiting from Omaha and will stay with the McDougalds until her husband, M/Sgt. Lovejoy McDougald, can establish residence in Germany where he is now stationed.

Joe Searcie is back in town from army duty. While in the service Searcie saw duty in Korea. He was an outstanding athlete in basketball and baseball while attending Sabin high school.

The very attractive looking young face gracing the front page of the November 4 issue of the Oregon Journal was Mary Herndon, 21, and the wife of Bonneville engineer and University of Portland graduate Bob Herndon. Just about to round out her first year in Portland, the alert Mrs. Herndon was a precinct worker for precinct 238, N. E. Grand avenue.

Guess who is disc jockeying for the old radio station KBKO, now clickishly called KLIQ and located in the Hollywood district out on 39th and Sandy? Yep, you guessed it. Portland's youthful "jack of all trades," Ben "Blues in Rhythm" Hamilton. Ben handles the old Eddie Leahy spot from 4 to sunset. Leahy has now moved on to KWJJ.

Clean Paper A Need

Newspapers always get their share of complaints. And the still young Challenger has proven to be no exception.

It is our policy to give news that is news and as accurately as possible. Occasionally, our news sources prove incorrect and we have to suffer the consequences. However, it definitely is not the practice of the Portland Challenger to deliberately slander or defame the character of the individual. We lean backwards in a sincere attempt to keep the pages of our publication as clean as possible. For in the Challenger there is no room for the so-called "after hours" column. We are not interested in the personal affairs of the individual, but if the individual's personal affairs comprise news, then we see fit to print it. If the news is of no interest to society and can serve no useful purpose—other than to satisfy the hungry lips of the narrow-minded—then we see no need to print it.

We intend to keep the Challenger a salubrious paper. A newspaper that is here to serve humanity. Those individuals that think we are here to cater to "local gossip" and in essence tab ourselves as an unuseful "dirt sheet" will have to be satisfied with disappointment.

The Challenger is building to stand forth solidly on its own two feet. To take dictation only from the good of humanity. A newspaper is meant to serve the community, this we intend to do and to the best of our ability.

Civil Rights' Future

Since the election returns have all been gathered and counted two very salient facts have been brought out. The first is that Eisenhower received more votes than any president in the history of the United States. It could possibly be because more people voted this time than at any other time in this country's history, but more likely is the explanation that the overwhelming total of votes received by the Republicans shows a general public endorsement of the party.

The second fact, perhaps more important as far as civil rights are concerned, is that for the first time since the days of reconstruction the Southern bloc has been split. At least half of the eleven Southern states, in spite of the fact that they have by the maintenance of their one-party system gained congressional ascendancy, have undergone a political change of heart. Whether this represents a partial disinclination from the Democratic party because of its generally positive stand for centralization at the risk of state's rights or inner dissension among the Southerners themselves is something that will probably be brought out in the future.

What is more important, from the standpoint of this editorial, is the effect that this Southern split will have on federal civil rights legislation, Will southern legislators, whether Republican or Democratic, stand together against federal rights legislation, or will they split partywise and vote according to their respective parties' preferences?

Worthy of consideration also is the fact that both the national Senate and House are fairly evenly split. There are for this next legislative session 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats and one Independent (about whom we all know) in the Senate. In the House we will have 220 Republicans and 211 Democrats. Three other House seats were still doubtful at the time this article was written.

With a national legislature split so evenly one might well ask the question: "Will there ever be any effective legislation as long as the legislators themselves are party-conscious?" Civil rights and any other bills to be considered may be shelved and reshelved and, at the risk of being trite, it IS time to close ranks.

It is the observation of this editorial that people, particularly old timers, seem to expect a general cutdown in employment and financial activity. The axe is expected to drop first on the civil service agencies. It would seem that such a fear is unfounded, especially in such a national crisis as this. But if such a drastic measure is enacted then what will happen to Negroes who have and are expected to make significant strides in employment?

Last of all we wonder what effect the change in appointive office heads is going to have on minorities and their opportunities.

These we consider to be a few of the pertinent factors which are going to affect the progress of civil rights legislation. We have elected to just ask the questions on the theory that it is really too early to tell exactly what is going to happen.

Feeling that we are standing on the brink of a new legislative and governmental era, we are relatively certain that the new administration will treat civil rights differently—whether worse or better, however, it is hard to say.

Kay Notations —

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon for Mrs. Ethel May Bollen who died suddenly at her home on Monday evening. She was the wife of Fred L. Bollen who survives her, and had been a resident of Portland for nearly forty years. The family residence has been at 1243 S. E. 50th street for most of that time.

Here from California for the last rites for their mother were Mrs. Evelyn Gravelli and Mrs. Gertrude Anderson. Also surviving are two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services were in Finley's Rose Chapel and commitment was private.

The PTA of Highland grade school put on a "Highland Fling"

Friday evening with several attractions going on simultaneously in the building. Members were pleased with the results of their money-raising venture.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was in charge of the movie "theater," and Mrs. Theodore Freeman was chairman of the auditorium show.

Mrs. Freeman engaged the talented actors from the Knott Street Community Center. Among the young artists on stage that night were: Edwina Hill, tap dancer; Virginia Maxey, contortionist; Constance Casson, soloist, and Grover Campbell, a very capable ventriloquist.

Richard Moffett, pianist, was accompanist and in charge of the youngsters.

Kay's Notations

Kathryn H. Bogle, Social Editor

Felicitations are pouring in to the families of three brand new Portlanders. They all arrived on election day, November 4.

It was a boy for Mr. and Mrs. Wirt R. Morton. He weighed 71 pounds, 6 ounces on Wilcox hospital scales, and has been named Wirt Richard Jr. The Mortons have twin boys three years old.

It was a girl for Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ingersoll Jr. Barbara Rae is her name and she weighed 6 pounds, 14 ounces. She was born at Wilcox on election day and she has three little sisters.

It was a girl, too, for Mr. and Mrs. Willie Jenkins. They named their new daughter Constance Ruth. She was born at Emanuel hospital and tipped the scales at 7 pounds, 3 ounces. The new arrival is the second girl for the Jenkins.

Mrs. Harry Williams was honored with a surprise birthday dinner party last Sunday evening at her home on Michigan street. Mr. Williams and Ernest Love planned and cooked the feast for 17 guests. Canasta and bridge were after-dinner diversions.

From Seattle came Mrs. Laura Saunders and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jackson for the Saunders-Smith wedding.

Mrs. Saunders is mother to the bridegroom, Ronald Saunders.

Mrs. Leon A. Johnson is recuperating at her home following a few days' illness at a local hospital.

Mrs. Doris Fry, nurse at Veterans hospital, has returned from a month's vacation spent in Washington, D. C., and other eastern cities.

Mrs. Clorton Lee has returned to her home in Spokane after a fortnight's visit here with her aunt Mrs. Marian McClear. Mrs. McClear invited several of the younger matrons to meet Mrs. Lee at her home on Sunday afternoon.

Members of Epsilon Zeta Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity had a gay costume party on Halloween at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Williams.

Charles Lewis of Seattle, a member of the football team at Willamette university, will be with the team when they go to Hawaii this month.

Chuck's father, Charles Lewis Sr. and his cousin Paul Lewis came down from Seattle this week for Willamette's game with Linfield college. They all were in Portland to dine and visit with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Freeman.

Golf Club Elects Year's Officers

Six of eight incumbent officers were re-elected at the last regular meeting of the Leisure Hour golf club. Newly elected officers are Mmes. June Wagner and Irene McDougald, first and second corresponding secretaries respectively.

Incumbents are: Mrs. Gladys Ricks, president; Mrs. Lenora Gaskin, vice-president; Mrs. Laurice Saunders, recording secretary; Walter Ricks, financial secretary; Charles Rawlins, treasurer and Vernon Gaskin, tournament chairman.

According to Cornell McDougald, publicity chairman, the nine-year-old club now boasts a membership of over 80 golfers, but they are still anxious to incorporate more people.

A popular feature of the organization is its morning coffee hour designed to acquaint members with each other and to increase golfing zeal. These coffee hours are followed by golfing excursions.

Saunders-Smith Say 'I Do' At Bethel AME Ceremony

Lovely autumn colors were chosen by Laurice Smith for her candlelight wedding to Ronald Saunders of Seattle, at Bethel AME church on Saturday evening.

The Rev. J. L. Boyd officiated at the double ring ceremony performed amidst potted palms and baskets of big pale yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. A. A. Bass of this city and was presented in marriage by Mr. Bass. Mr. Saunders is the son of Mrs. Laura Saunders of Seattle. Members of the two families and a few intimate friends of the couple witnessed the nuptials.

The bride was beautiful in a waltz-length nylon net gown of a burnished copper shade called tea-rose. The gown was fashioned with a simple bodice and bouffant skirts topped by an overskirt embroidered in gold. Her rhinestone-sprinkled satin slippers matched her gown. In her hair the bride wore a coronet of pearls and she carried a prayer book centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Vernon Gaskin was the bride's only attendant and was gowned in pale green satin, also in waltz length. She wore a braided satin bandeau in her hair and she carried crimson and gold roses arranged in a hand bouquet.

Mrs. Donald Anderson sang, "Because," accompanied at the pipe organ by Mrs. Magnolia Taylor who also played the wedding music.

Best man was William D. Murray of Seattle.

An informal reception in the parsonage immediately followed the ceremony. Assisting at the affair were: Mrs. Jesse L. Boyd, Mrs. Cleophas Smith, Mrs. Henry Jackson and Mrs. Earl Winslow.

After a wedding trip to Canada the couple will be at home in Portland.

MT. OLIVET BAPTIST
Dr. J. J. Clow 116 NE Schuyler
 Following the regular morning services Sunday, November 16, there will be an annual dinner in honor of the older members of the church. At 7:30 p.m. Lauren Sykes will give an organ recital to be followed by a coffee hour. All are invited to attend.

MT. SINAI COMMUNITY INTER-RACIAL
Rev. M. C. Cheek 4550 NE Going
 About 200 people attended the evening dedication services of this new inter-racial, inter-denominational church Sunday, November 2. Under the direction of Reverend L. R. Kibler, master of ceremonies, the program featured several speakers. They were: J. Alton Page, Reverend Olin G. Dasher, David Myers, Peter Gantenbein, Mrs. Emil Cohen, Reverend Jesse L. Boyd, Mrs. Myron Knudsen and Edwin C. Berry.

There were remarks by the church pastor, Reverend M. C. Cheek, and a presentation of the church history by Mrs. Cheek. The benediction was delivered by Reverend Kibler.

Mrs. Cheek announces that the new church is sponsoring a baby popularity contest with the co-operation of church auxiliary organizations. Church workers will sell tickets for the babies who are entered in the contest. Final judging will take place at the church December 14.

All are welcome.

BETHEL A.M.E. METHODIST
Dr. J. L. Boyd 316 N. McMillen
 The pastor announces that the church has planned a night Sunday school for children and adults as well. First of these programs will be held Sunday evening, November 23. Tentatively to be scheduled for just once a year, the pastor announces that if there is sufficient demand the program will be staged more often.

All is activity at Bethel as getting a "facelifting." The pastor and some male members are busy painting the church and parsonage and also roofing a part of the church. Working on a pay-as-you-go basis the voluntary project is expected to save considerably.

ALLEN TEMPLE C.M.E.

Parishoners announce that "we are stressing the fact that we are striving to let our light so shine that Christ may be seen in our everyday life; organizations are working to the fullest extent."

The Reverend and Mrs. Kibler are now at home in the new parsonage. The couple moved in last week.

Thursday evening the Stewardesses' Board 1 had a bazaar at the church. Thursday, November 27, the Trustees will sponsor a turkey dinner at the parsonage, N. E. 8th and Hancock. Plates will be one dollar.

Friday, November 28, Youth day, a special evening program will be given by the church youth. November 30 at 8 p.m. the Missionary society will have a "pew rally" at 2 p.m.

There will be a Grand style show Friday, December 12, at 8 p.m. at which refreshments will be served. The show will be in the interest of a special rally to be held December 28.

ALL NATIONS NAZARENE INTER-DENOMINATIONAL
Rev. E. L. Jackson
313 NE Failing

At their new location for just three Sundays, this new inter-denomination church is in the process of achieving complete organization. Prior to this the parish carried on its church function in their parsonage located at Monroe street and Rodney avenue.

Regular Sunday services are conducted at 3 p.m. Reverend Jackson plans to inaugurate a Sunday school service beginning about December 7. These classes will be taught at 2 p.m.

'Too Much Lonnie Harris' As Sandes Top Frat, 12-0

BY TED BURGER

It was nip and tuck all the way when the Benny's Frat House and Sande Court touch football sevens clashed on the Buckman turf Sunday, November 2. Benny's Frat House bowed to a 12-0 final count after fighting all the way against a superior Sande passing attack.

First scratch on the scoreboard came midway in the first half when Sande receiver Art Shepherd extemporaneously remodeled a passing scheme winding up way in the clear in a corner of the end zone to take the golden ball from alert passer Lonnie Harris.

Harris was again on the throwing end when Nick Fazzolari took a 35-yarder at the end of the first half for another Sande 6. Both conversions failed.

Ground Attack Sharp

Benny's boys featured a sharp running attack with the aid of Ben Mozely who showed himself to be pretty clever and a real competitor. Smokey Overton, overworked Benny quarterback, also put in some nifty running besides lots of passing.

Jim "Bikini" Buzier, Benny lineman, outshined everyone on defense as he spent most of the afternoon in the Sande secondary plaguing the passing of Lonnie Harris. Sharp air and generally low temperature prevailing, Buzier, nevertheless, continually crashed the Sande line wearing only a sweat shirt, shorts and football shoes.

Shining also was Loomis Harris, Sande receiver, who caught short ones all through the game

Jeff's Eddie Phillips Garners All-City Football Recognition At Line Position

Eddie Phillips, 160-pound guard from Jefferson high school, earned a spot on the coveted 1952 Portland high school football all-city team. The strong, scrappy guard is a senior and was tabbed as one of the best guards in the state by ardent prep football followers.

The Jefferson senior received 13 points from coaches and sports writers—one from the Oregonian and one from the Oregon Journal—in the Portland area.

Phillips came to Portland eight years ago and attended school in Vanport, the war time housing project that was inundated on Memorial Day, 1948. He graduated from Highland elementary school.

Phillips came to Portland from Dallas, Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McDonald, 3937 N. E. 9th avenue.

As to further education, Phillips is undecided. He plans to go to college, but is indefinite as to the school. He may choose Lewis and Clark, however.

Phillips now joins the ranks of such ex-Jefferson football immortals as Bobby Reynolds, Emery Barnes, Bob Robinson, Dick Stanton and Frank Fair.

Willie Thurman Gets Year's Time

Willie Thurman, 86 N. E. Tillamook street, was sentenced to one year in jail Wednesday for bilking a used car salesman out of $25 October 16.

After hearing the dealer's story, Stanley W. Carlson of Arrow Auto Sales, 2904 N. E. Union avenue, of how Thurman took the money from him under the pretense of buying him a case of whiskey. Judge John S. Murchison found Thurman guilty of a misdemeanor charge of larceny by bailee.

The dealer confessed that he made the alleged deal, hoping to sell a car to Thurman. According to him, Thurman took the money and never returned.

Shepherd Outstanding

For the Sande seven Shepherd was outstanding on the receiving end while reliable Lonnie Harris got off some really good passes. Bob Herndon, on the bench during part of the season, showed real speed. Once almost getting away on a run, Herndon also caught one 40 yard pass.

One highlight of the game came when Shepherd intercepted an Overton pass and returned the ball 50 yards during the second half. Another came when Lonnie Harris elected to "run" on a broken-up pass play. The usually stationery Sande passer also returned an interception for 30 yards.

Line scrimmage was heavy throughout and some good pass defense was shown by both teams. It was the superior passing attack of the Sande seven that made the difference.
