

Jul 12th, 3:35 PM - 3:40 PM

Making Collections, Making Connections: Using IR Metrics to Guide IR Promotion

Maurice R. Blackson
Central Washington University, blacksonm@cwu.edu

Sean Lind
Central Washington University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://pdxscholar.library.pdx.edu/nwirug>

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Blackson, Maurice R. and Lind, Sean, "Making Collections, Making Connections: Using IR Metrics to Guide IR Promotion" (2016). Northwest IR User Group. 11.
<https://pdxscholar.library.pdx.edu/nwirug/2016/Presentations/11>

This Lightning Talk is brought to you for free and open access. It has been accepted for inclusion in Northwest IR User Group by an authorized administrator of PDXScholar. Please contact us if we can make this document more accessible: pdxscholar@pdx.edu.

Making Collections, Making Connections:

Using IR Metrics to Guide IR Promotion

By Marty Blackson and Sean Lind

LEARN. DO. LIVE.

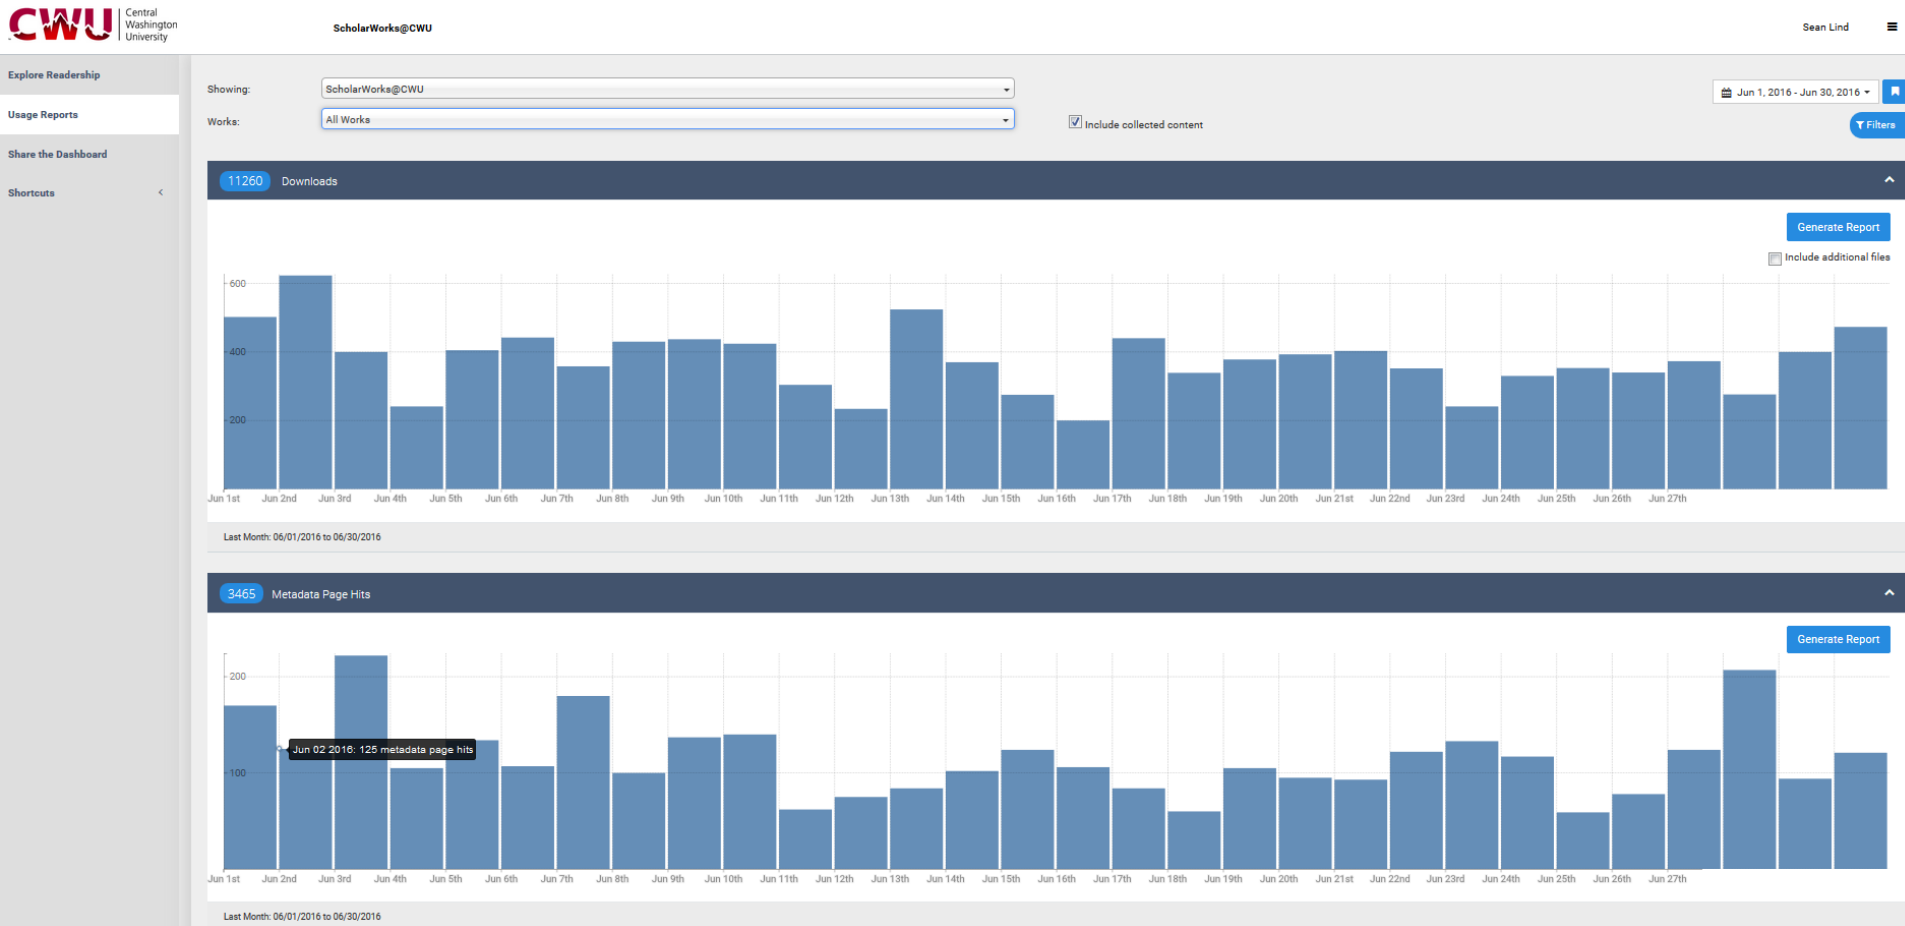

Know Your Collections:

ScholarWorks @ CWU Downloads and Page Views, June 2016

LEARN. DO. LIVE.

Know Your Collections:

LEARN. DO. LIVE.

Leveraging Popular Collections

The Ghost of Kamola Campus Crier February 1937

Legends about Kamola have probably been around as long as the building has existed. This rather tongue-in-cheek article tells a tragic story which serves as more of a cautionary tale.

Exaggerating the dangers of staying out past curfew serves to remind coeds about hazards presented by the opposite sex.

KAMOLA

The Ghost of Kamola

"Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night, nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness." Apparently a few of the sleeping beauties in Old Kamola did not have this assurance in mind about 12 o'clock last Thursday night, for when the "Ghost of Kamola" walked abroad, howls of agony and hiccoughs of despair issued from various rooms. One fair damsel, rudely awakened out of her slumber by a beam of light and the startling apparition in the doorway of her boudoir, screamed wildly, "Get the hell out of here with that thing!"

Young ladies whose growth had suddenly been impaired by the appearance of the white figure, made complaints to the authorities of the hall the next day. Young women, if you have lived so long in Kamola Hall without hearing the tale of the romantic Rosylyne de Vries-Smythe, your education has been very sadly neglected.

Rosylyne was a beautiful, glamorous, gorgeous blond of 18 dewy summers, and she lived in Kamola Hall when she went to school here, 'way back when. She was loved by many a gallant young blade on the campus.

One Tuesday evening this glorious creature arrived at Kamola Hall at 10:10. She knew she was liable to excommunication, extradition, and exile, and her pride would not allow her to enter the hall by the front door. So Rosylyne and her suitor of the moment went around the back of Kamola and called up to her roommate. Some one put her head out of a window and lowered two sheets, by which the fair young lady scaled the wall. When she leaped over the sill she found herself in an empty room. The door was locked, and keys there were none. Poor, poor Rosylyne! She did not think to remove herself from the room by the way she entered.

Days passed. Time marched. And Rosylyne, the lily maid of Kamola, was soon dead.

One day, in the fall of 1936, the housemother opened the door of Rosylyne's death chamber, and a chilling fear seized her by the nape of the neck. She shut the door and fled, without locking it.

On the night of February 18, 1937, the anniversary of her entombment, Rosylyne de Vries-Smythe, for the first time, succeeded in getting out of the room. She wandered up and down the halls, searching for her own room. She did not find it, and with many sighs, she retired to the room in which she had died so long before.

Thus the tale ended. But next year Rosylyne will return. Beware, for she will return.

SUE LOMBARD

Nineteen girls checked out over the week end. Those leaving were: Bernice Broad and Ruth A. Beckman, to Everett; Ruth M. Beckman and Dorothy Eustace, to Selah; Phyllis Carrier, Wapato; Marjorie Colvin, Leavenworth; Marie Dreaney, Evelyn Hallauer, Eleanor Freeman, Dorothy McMillan, and Madeline Reynolds, to Yakima; Lydia Dekker, Granger; Elsie Graber, Cle Elum; Dorothy McIntyre, Portland, Oregon; Mildred Moe, Seattle; Pat Page, Auburn; Beryl Puckett, Wenatchee; Marie Richert, Douglas; and Ellen Wickersham, Yakima. . . . Loyce Swanson was a guest at Kamola on Saturday night. . . . Helen Gillenwater and Jean Mason were in Cle Elum on Sunday. . . . Jeanne Webb and Katherine Leitch attended the symphony in Yakima last Tuesday evening. . . . Dormitory visitors this last week were Elsabelle Cruttenden, of Seattle; Lillian Johnson, of Everett; Evelyn Maxwell, of Yakima, and Louise Farrell.

OFF-CAMPUS

The Off-Campus Council met Tuesday in the club room. Final plans for the banquet were discussed and each council member was urged to see that all club members signed up and attended the banquet.

A list has been posted on the post office bulletin board for all Off-Campus girls to sign. We want to urge you not to let other engagements interfere with your attendance at the banquet. It will be over by 9 o'clock at the latest.

Several Off-Campus girls went home this week end. Evelyn Vanderpool visited at her home in Granger,

(Continued on Page 3)

Promoting Underused Collections

Home > Student Scholarship and Creative Works > Graduate Projects > Theater Production Projects

Browse

Collections

Disciplines

Authors

Search

Enter search terms:

Search

in this series

Advanced Search

Notify me via email or RSS

Author Corner

Author FAQ

About This Collection

Theater Production Graduate Program

Links

Terms of Use

Brooks Library

MASTER OF THEATER PRODUCTION GRADUATE PROJECTS

If you are a teacher or other working professional seeking advancement in your current environment and beyond without having to leave your current position, the summer residency Theater Production Program is for you!

This Master of Arts program is specifically designed around your professional work schedule with courses offered annually in July and a culminating project at your own venue, using your own resources. As a participant in the program, you will learn new skills to take back to the classroom, make life-long friends and network with other theater artists and educators from across the nation and the world, all while earning a degree that will benefit your career.

This collection features graduate projects from Master of Arts students in the Department of Theater Production Graduate Program at Central Washington University.

Follow

Graduate Student Projects from 2015

PDF Direction of the Play: White Christmas, Shannon Ruiz

PDF Direction of the Musical: Hairspray, Craig Wrotniak

Graduate Student Projects from 2014

PDF Direction of the Play: Buried Child, Kevin Wayne Loomis

LEARN. DO. LIVE.

Useful connections = Useful collections

CWU | Central Washington University

Give to CWU | Text Only | MyCWU | A-Z

FUTURE STUDENTS | STUDENTS | PARENTS | ALUMNI | ATHLETICS

About | Admissions | Academics | Services | Campuses | CWU Life

APPLY NOW
Request info | Visit CWU

Theatre

Home » Programs

- Theatre Arts Home
- ▶ About
- ▼ Programs
 - BFA / BA Programs
 - MA Programs
 - Minor Programs

Anticipated 2015-2018 Course Offerings

- ▶ Summer Institute for Theatre Arts
- ▶ Student Resources
- ▶ Productions
- ▶ Faculty
- ▶ Facilities
- ▶ BFA Student Portfolios

FAQ's
Contact Us
Good News

Buy Tickets
Donate Now
Costume and Prop Rental

Master of Arts in Theatre

Apply Now

Master of Arts
THEATRE STUDIES | THEATRE PRODUCTION

THEATRE NEWS

CWU's Mary Poppins Is "Practically Perfect In Every Way"

EXPERIENCE THE ETERNAL MAGIC OF NANNY MARY POPPINS IN CENTRAL WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY CENTRAL THEATRE

CWU Theater Carefully Selects Props For Each Show

WHEN THE CURTAINS ON MCCONNELL AUDITORIUM'S STAGE OPEN AND THE MAIN CHARACTER MOVES ACROSS THE STAG

CWU Play Explores Real-life

LEARN. DO. LIVE.