

Portland State University

PDXScholar

Ernie Bonner Collection

Oregon Sustainable Community Digital Library

8-30-2000

Email from Bud Clark to Bonner

Bud Clark

Follow this and additional works at: https://pdxscholar.library.pdx.edu/oscdl_bonner

Part of the Urban Studies Commons, and the Urban Studies and Planning Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

Clark, Bud, "Email from Bud Clark to Bonner" (2000). Ernie Bonner Collection. 263.
https://pdxscholar.library.pdx.edu/oscdl_bonner/263

This Correspondence is brought to you for free and open access. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ernie Bonner Collection by an authorized administrator of PDXScholar. Please contact us if we can make this document more accessible: pdxscholar@pdx.edu.

From: BUD.CLARK@att.net <BUD.CLARK@att.net>
To: Ernie Bonner <erbonner@teleport.com>
Date: Wednesday, August 30, 2000 10:53 AM
Subject: Re: Who knows the answer?

>The answer is; it was the old Journal Building, but it >was originally built as the city public market, I >believe in the late 20s'. It was a market that never >became popular. My mother shopped there occasionally in >the 1930s' when we first moved to Portland. It had >parking inside the building but it was never able to >overcome the popularity of the market stalls on Yamhill >Street.

>

>A great mistake in my opinion was wiping out the >Yamhill 'farmers' market by Urban Renewal. It should >have been improved and glorified in some way like the >Pike Street Market in Seattle.

>

>Frank Ivancie takes credit for tearing down the Old >Journal building. I had a picture of it that I gave to >him when I met him at a luncheon a few years ago. It was >then that he told me he considered it one of his >accomplishments, of which he was very proud.