NEW PLAN OF CIVIC WORK IS ADOPTED

WITH the idea of dividing the entire membership of the City Club into Sections for the purpose of research, study and discussion, thereby giving every member a chance to take part and express himself, the Public Affairs Committee, upon the suggestion of Committee Chairmen and the President, has spent several weeks studying a plan of re-organization which would accomplish the above purpose.

After a number of preliminary conferences with the Board, the Public Affairs Committee submitted on Monday its recommendations, which were unanimously adopted by the Board.

The Section plan of Civic Work, proposed by the Committee, is based somewhat upon that used by the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco, but does not materially alter the City Club’s working program. In fact, the plan was provided for in the Constitution when the Club was organized, but until the membership of the Club had become larger and more diversified, all work was completed in small Bureaus and special committees.

The re-organization consolidates bureaus and committees under Sections, to which the entire membership of the Club will be assigned according to individual preferences.

The Committee recommends that the Executive Secretary take immediate steps to classify the Club members according to preference for work in the new Sections and that the plan as a whole be placed in effect at the beginning of the Club year. Beginning next week, members will have an opportunity to check off their preferences on the new program.

To inform its members and the community in public matters and to arouse them to a realization of the obligations of citizenship.

TRAFFIC STUDY FRIDAY

City Club members interested in the field of city planning will look forward to the meeting on Friday. The objective aimed at by Mr. McKinley’s study was to secure as complete a picture as possible of certain central facts of the Hawthorne Bridge traffic problem, namely, volume and direction of vehicular traffic and the sources and deviation of delays. The report should be the basis for some interesting discussion, as will the presentation of slides illustrating bridge designs the world over.

MEMBER IS AUTHOR

The City Club Library acknowledges with thanks the first autographed copy of a book by a City Club member. The author in the case is none other than Dr. C. Ulysses Moore, member of the Board of Governors and prominent children’s specialist of Portland. “Nutrition of Mother and Child” is the title of the book and is probably one that City Club “dads” will rush to borrow. The book is published by Lippincott & Co., who have the following to say about the book:

“This volume presents the facts of nutrition which have been accepted by schools of accredited standing everywhere. The book lays particular emphasis on the newer conception of breast feeding, the building up of breast milk, vitamins and the mineral content of the diet. Nothing is included which has not been tested and proven of practical value in personal experience. The volume is written in simple straight-forward English and as untechnical as is feasible in the presentation of scientific facts.”

CHICAGO MAN SPEAKS

A member of the City Club of Chicago, Mr. J. G. Schaefer, representative of the National Clothiers’ Association, gave a short and interesting talk before the Club last Friday. Although many of the members may have wanted to hear him tell about those “capes” which are to be wished on our overcoats, he chose an entirely different topic—the story of how the City Club of Chicago helped to run out the “machine” in city politics and nominate desirable candidates for Mayor. His talk was a forcible one and left no doubt in the minds of his hearers that he preferred the battling club to a chess and checker organization.

O. A. C. INVITES CLUB

A Business Show which will epitomize the principles of the commercial and industrial progress of the Pacific Northwest will be given by the Oregon Agricultural College School of Commerce, at Corvallis, Friday, March 30th. Portland civic organizations have been invited to be the guests of the College that day, an event which will really be the formal opening of the big Commerce Building.

No department at O. A. C. has shown such an astonishing growth as the School of Commerce and the plan for March 30th is to acquaint the people of the state with the progress being made.

The Chamber of Commerce is in charge of the Portland excursion and it is hoped that a large delegation from the City Club will be able to attend. Reservations may be made through the City Club Office.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP

The following applications for membership have been received and will be presented for the approval of the City Club, Friday, March 16th:

- A. D. Vance, Civil Engineer.
- L. S. Stinson, Accountant.

The above applicants are proposed by Arthur O’Neil (1) and E. C. Willard (2).

The City Club Quartet will make its first appearance at a luncheon meeting on Friday. This is a permanent City Club organization and needless to say, it is likely to become the most popular.
NEW PROGRAM

The report submitted to the Board reads in part as follows:

"The Public Affairs Committee has completed its consideration of the question of committee re-organization and as a result offers the following plan for the approval of the Board of Governors.

In order to make the titles of the various permanent Bureaus of Sections of the City Club comprehensive enough to include all probable assignments in civic work the following classification of Sections is proposed. Sub-titles are also given for the purpose of definition to indicate some of the questions that may be taken up by the Sections and also to facilitate the securing of definite preference from members for work assignment. The following is proposed:

In the second place, the suggestion is made that the President, subject to the constitutional provisions previously referred to, assign all members of the City Club to one or another of the above seven sections, as much as possible on the basis of their voluntary preference. It is thought that the President should not be prohibited from drafting members for particular
CHAPMAN COMES AGAIN

SECOND helpings are usually not devoured with the zest that is attached to first ones, but this fact evidently did not apply to the second "session" of the Legislature conducted at the City Club last Friday by C. C. Chapman, fellow-member and versatile editor of the Oregon Voter. The same room-full of members was present to hear the concluding chapter on measures, events and personalities at the recent Legislature.

Mr. Chapman gave a very fair and complete version of the pardons issued to state prisoners by Acting-Governor Ritner, a version based, as he stated, on an acquaintance with Mr. Ritner and on statements which he had heard made about the State Capitol but had not verified. The gist of his remarks was that as Acting-Governor, Mr. Ritner had acted in full accord with the responsibilities placed upon him and that in the matter of the paroles had accepted the recommendations of the state parole board and of prison officials only after a close personal investigation. Mr. Chapman explained the LaRose case by stating that all the LaRose had committed a heinous crime, he had been so completely transformed and rehabilitated in prison as to win the confidence of the prison officials and townspeople. Having fulfilled the requirements to this degree Mr. Chapman stated that he should be given a chance to make good.

"In regard to the Governor's veto," stated the speaker, "it is his failure to exercise the veto on 206 bills passed rather than on 30 that bears the most importance. The Governor had a great antipathy for emergency clauses and made it known early that he would give them the axe. This is not good business because emergency clauses are needed on appropriation bills in order to provide the state departments with money for operation during the 90 days following the legislature before the bills go into effect. With emergency clauses killed, there is no money for employees, a debt accumulates and the state is morally bound to pay interest charges."

The "meddler" agent is the term used by Mr. Chapman for the State Market Agent created by the Legislature. He gave an interesting account of the growth of this bill and of the great power wielded by the Agent over all food products except "loganberries." In the latter case he stated that one man alive to his own interests had had horticultural products excepted from the jurisdiction of the Agent.

The speaker stated that it was too much the attitude of the business man to take up the cudgels only against legislature that effects his own interests.
