The Presiding Officer reminded that Senators were sent the following email requesting names for the four working groups of the academic planning and priorities effort:

The Faculty Senate Steering Committee encourages your participation in the Provost's academic planning and priorities effort. We invite you to join one of the working groups that have been formed around four priority areas:

- Improve student success through engaged learning experiences
- Expand innovative scholarship/creative activities that address regional issues and have global significance
- Enhance educational opportunity in the Portland Metropolitan Region
- Advance selected programs that establish our leadership

Please indicate your interest in serving on one of these groups by completing the interest form at this address:

This link provides a message from the Provost and a full description of the process. The Steering Committee and President's Advisory Council will recommend a group of 16 to 20 faculty from amongst those who express interest. Please submit your form by Friday, February 9 so that the committees will have time to make appointments before the first working group meeting.

Thank you for your willingness to ensure faculty participation in this important effort.
Kathi A. Ketcheson
Faculty Senate Presiding Officer, 2006-2007

Provost’s Report

KOCH noted that there was an 89% response rate to the Faculty Activity Survey, thanked the Senate for participation, and asked senators to extend that thanks to their colleagues. KOCH noted that at their meeting on Friday, the State Board of Higher Education passed the Sociology Ph.D. Additionally, the Provost’s Council approved the Executive M.P.A. and the Graduate Certificate in Software Engineering, to be forwarded for board approval. KOCH thanked senators for their participation in the academic planning and priorities symposium on 12 February.

KOCH reported on the progress of 2006-07 PSU enrollments. The total Fall 2006 enrollments were up a little over 1%, however the in load headcount and SCH were both down 1% and self support headcount and SCH were up. For Winter 2007, headcount and SCH are up 1%, however the in load headcount and SCH are down 1/2 - 1/2 %. Again, the self-support numbers are up. Our projections don’t match these figures due to the drops in inload enrollment, which raises issues associated with the self support system.

CRESS asked that revision be made to the Faculty Surveys to improve clarity with respect to sabbatical leaves, etc. KETCHESON noted that the Deans were asked to review the data and provide such information. At the aggregate level, the information isn’t collected.

Vice President’s Report

F. QUESTION PERIOD

1. Request of the Provost and Vice President for Current Budget Update

KOCH gave a brief overview of the Governor’s Recommended 2007-09 Budget (attachment), which can be accessed in total on the state webpage and/or directly at http://www.oregon.gov/DAS/BAM/GRB0709.shtml. He noted that the OUS has been operating at a deficit for the last two biennia; therefore the extra monies in the Governor’s Proposed Budget may not look like much when all is said and done. He also reminded that the Governor’s Proposed Budget is the best-case scenario, and snags are already developing around one of the tax proposals. Therefore, we will have to address possible shortfalls to that budget as well as past under-funding. Undergraduate tuition is off the table. If the governor’s budget is approved, we are still short by $3 Million. Additionally, we need to build up the fund balance to an acceptable level. We can pursue two strategies, new revenue or new cuts. Ideally, we would like to find new revenues, and we would also like to identify a few strategic investments.

KOCH reviewed the PSU 2007-08 budget process, which is similar to last year. Deans are requested to submit budget requests by 16 February. The deans’ council is developing university-wide strategies, but given the economic constraints, the list of opportunities is not very long. We don’t want to reduce staffing any more and we don’t want to reduce instructional capacity. Every 1% of enrollment is approximately $800,000. Diversifying enrollment is an option. Another option would be to institute differential graduate tuition where programs could support that. Looking carefully at and increasing where possible certain class sizes, especially Junior and Senior cluster classes, is one of the least objectionable solutions.
BURNS noted that the report to the board noted that our fund balance was much higher than Koch indicated. KOCH stated that it wouldn’t be by the end of the year.

ZELICK asked about the impact of the federal timber subsidy issue that was headlined on Friday, and also if Distance Learning programs could help enrollment figures. KOCH stated he believed the former issue doesn’t affect all this. With respect to Distance Learning, KOCH noted that we are rolling out a program in Criminal Justice for example, but development of good programs takes some time.

LIEBMAN asked about diversifying the enrollment mix and if there is a negative impact of revenue streams that are captured by the metro community colleges. KOCH noted that in answer to the first question, PSU is recruiting 100 out of state high achieving freshmen for next year with a scholarship offer, and we are actively recruiting international students. With respect to competition for enrollment we are in the business of collaborating with the community colleges; we must be a good partner.

ARANTE asked for a clarification about the disposition of the proposed $8 Million for faculty salary improvement. KOCH noted that the funds are for salary, not compensation, and would be distributed according to directions from the Chancellor’s Office.

G. REPORTS FROM OFFICERS OF THE ADMINISTRATION AND COMMITTEES

1. OUS Campus Discussions on General Education

SMALLMAN presented a brief update on SB 342 and the working groups formed in response to the bill’s charge to establish common educational outcomes for the entire OUS system, as briefly outlined in “G-1.” This is being mandated but it is also an opportunity both internally and at the system wide level to establish a faculty led procedure for determining outcomes and addressing transfer issues. There are two PSU meetings scheduled in the coming weeks.

SHUSTEREMAN noted that this discussion includes more than just the first year of general education as we define it at PSU. SMALLMAN agreed, noting that it is fair to say that a lot of this is being done to address screening issues with the community colleges. The legislature is frustrated, for example, that the OTM was established but is not addressing the 100+ problem courses like ceramics that don’t transfer everywhere.
RUETER noted that this is micromanaging and we need to push back. SMALLMAN stated that we are lucky with this legislation in that it doesn’t mandate the outcomes, etc. RUETER noted we should take a strong stance; for example, stop using numbers and use course descriptors. FOSQUE noted that the community colleges are not offering courses that meet the transfer requirement, and as we add courses it increases the problem.

SCHECHTER noted that we are in the crossfire of two competing economies, which are mutually exclusive. One is the local economy of legitimation through size, and one is the national economy of legitimation through prestige. Faculty are feeling the strain of that in their work.

2. Report of the Interinstitutional Faculty Senate Meeting of February 2-3, 2007 at Oregon State University

BURNS reported for the Senators, noting that complete minutes can be found at the IIFS website: http://darkwing.uoregon.edu/~ifs/ifs.html

BURNS thanked Michael Cummings for his service last year, and welcomed his replacement Duncan Carter. BURNS noted that the Legislative fiscal office has requested the Chancellor prioritize a list of reductions in the Governor’s Proposed Budget totaling $80 Million, in the event of a reduced budget outcome. If there were a reduction of that scale, the budget would end up being no larger than in the current biennium, which hasn’t been sufficient.

H. ADJOURNMENT

The meeting was adjourned at 4:24 p.m.
Governor's Recommended Budget (GRB) Proposal and 2007-08 PSU Budget

- Proposal represents a first step towards fiscal recovery for Oregon University System (OUS). Multi-biennial approach needed for full recovery
- Proposal includes funds to support:
  - Moderate increases in ongoing operations
  - Specific Initiatives within OUS
  - Significant capital and deferred maintenance allocation
  - Funds for specific initiatives from other (non-OUS) sources

- Proposal for capital budget is strong with 2 major projects:
  - Sciences Teaching/Research Center (Science II) ($45m) and
  - Lincoln Hall upgrades ($29)
  - Also includes housing, parking and other auxiliary (self-supporting) projects
- Also adds significant funds specifically for deferred maintenance, some $14m. (PSU has $192m backlog)

Biennial operating funds for OUS, proposal provides:

- Base budget roll up funds ($36M)
- Enrollment funds ($14.6M)
- Faculty/student ratio funds ($6.9M)
- Faculty salary improvement ($8M)
- Regional college support ($9M)
- Restricted funding for:
  - Oregon transitional research/drug discovery institute ($7m - OEDCO)
  - Oregon Solutions at PSU ($1.5)
  - ONAMI ($6m - OEDCO)
  - Bio-economy and Sustainable Technologies Center ($3m - OEDCO)
  - ETIC ($17m - OUS)
- Funds reserved for statewide compensation increases - actions pending collective bargaining and e-board actions
Major conclusions: relationship to 2007-08 PSU budget

- Governor's budget is best case scenario; Legislature likely to reduce some elements
- If governor's budget proposal is approved as is, PSU still needs to find between $2 to $3 million in permanent funds to cover recurring shortfall;... or to take other actions

2007-08 BUDGET GOALS AT PSU

- Identify $2 to 3m in permanent funds to fill continuing shortfall --- or take other actions
- Identify $2 1/3 to $3 m in one time funds to restore university fund balance
- Identify strategic investments which should receive priority if funds available

PSU budget process and strategy

- Process (see FADM website for schedule)
- Approach to addressing shortfall in Academic Affairs = approach collectively (no "across the board" reductions)
- Strategies
  - Revenue enhancement
    - Enrollment (return to at least 04-05)
    - Graduate tuition and fees
  - Cost reduction
  - Curricular management

Summary of changes to University Studies clusters

1) Twelve new course were added to clusters: 11 are 300-level; 1 is 400-level. Thus, University Studies and cooperating departments continue to increase the 300-level to 400-level course ratio as directed by the Senate several years ago. Two of the smallest UNST clusters, Middle East and Media Studies, each added 3 courses.

2) Five previously approved “U” courses were added to additional clusters. All of these are 300-level courses. These additions, too, improve the 300-level to 400-level course ratio. One course was denied because it is a 400U/500-level course. Even though (at the time the Graduate Council’s ban on 500-level courses that also carry a 400U designation went into effect) it was grandfathered into its original cluster, the UNST Council saw no reason to extend that waiver to an additional cluster.

3) Three courses (all 400-level) were removed, all from the 19th Century cluster. There are now 29 courses in the cluster, representing 7 departments and within FLL, 4 languages. The offerings remain sufficient and varied.

Minor in GIS (Geographic Information Systems/Science)

Portland State University
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences
Geography

Overview

The Geography Department at PSU proposes a 29 credit minor in GIS designed to provide an opportunity for both majors and non-majors to specialize in Geographic Information Systems/Science (both terms are used and the GIS acronym can refer to either). This will provide students with job skills that are in demand by both private and public organizations. The department already offers the courses that will comprise the minor and offers a graduate certificate in GIS, but no special designation at the undergraduate level to denote this special set of skills. We feel this will be an important credential for students seeking work in this area. GIS is the fastest growing subdiscipline within Geography. Approximately one-third of all members of the Association of American Geographers consider GIS as an area of expertise and it continues to be one of the most employable sectors of the discipline.

Currently community colleges in the Portland area offer some GIS courses (as do UO, SOU), Clackamas Community College offers an associate’s degree with specialty in GIS, and OSU offers an undergraduate certificate in GIS. We generally do not compete with OSU for undergraduate students, so our offer of a minor in GIS would not affect their program. We already work closely with PCC and CCC in accepting many CC transfer students into the Geography major and would work with them to coordinate transfer credits into the minor as we already do for the major. Some GIS classes are offered at PSU (Urban Studies, Geology and Civil Engineering), but no undergraduate minor, major, or certificate. We also work with faculty and staff in those areas to coordinate course offerings.

Requirements

Requirements for a minor in GIS. To earn a minor in GIS (Geographic Information Systems) a student must complete a minimum of 29 credits in geography (at least 16 credits must be taken in residence at Portland State University), to include the following:

All courses submitted to satisfy requirements for the minor in GIS must be graded and passed with a C or better. At least 16 credits must be taken in residence at PSU. Students who are also working toward the major in Geography must take (in addition to the core courses for the GIS minor) at least 12 credits from the list of electives that will be uniquely applied to the GIS minor. Students considering the GIS minor are strongly encouraged to meet with a geography advisor to work out an instructional program that best meets their needs.
BACHELOR OF ARTS/BACHELOR OF SCIENCES DEGREE IN FILM STUDIES
Portland State University
School of Fine & Performing Arts
Department of Theater Arts

Overview

The proposed program, the Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Sciences in Film Studies, will be a major in the Department of Theater Arts. Drawing from existing strengths in the department in theatre and film studies curriculum, including history, criticism, theory, and dramatic writing, and field and laboratory-based courses in performance and design/production, the BA/BS in Film Studies degree would allow the student to develop a course of study tailored to the individual’s interest and vocational goals. This will include students who are interested in professional careers in the moving image arts, other information professions, the academic professions, and/or related careers.

The Department of Theater Arts at Portland State University offers liberal arts pre-professional training in performance, design, technology, writing, management, and theatre/cultural studies to the student interested in vocations in the live and moving image arts, the information industry, education, and related professions. Currently the department offers the BA/BS in Theater Arts, the MA/MS in Theater Arts, the Minor in Theater Arts, and the Minor Film Studies, and participates in the MA/MS in Interdisciplinary Studies, offering an emphasis in Film Studies. The department, an accredited institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Theatre, is one of four departments in the School of Fine & Performing Arts, including Architecture, Art, and Music, which includes in its offerings multiple professional and pre-professional degrees in the arts.

Requirements

Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Sciences in Film Studies

The Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Sciences in Film Studies is designed to offer students the opportunity to major in a diverse film curriculum that prepares them for a variety of careers in visual expression and understanding. Students in the program will study all forms and genres of the moving image, ranging from the silent film era to present day cinema, television, and digital video production. The faculty are committed to providing strong emphasis on written, oral and visual expression and critical thinking, diverse and international perspective, and challenging creative experiences.

Requirements for the major in Film Studies. In addition to meeting the general University degree requirements, the major in film studies will plan a program with a faculty advisor that meets the following minimum requirements:

TA 131 Understanding Movies ............................. 4
TA 301 Script Analysis ........................................ 4
TA 370 History of Film I, II, III (4, 4, 4) ................... 12
TA 480 Film Theory ............................................. 4

16 credits chosen from the following: ....................... 16
  TA 370 American Cinema and Culture I, II
  TA 474/5 Dramatic Writing I, II
  TA 484/5 Anatomy of a Movie I, II

*16 elective credits chosen from the film studies curriculum with at least 12 carrying numbers 300 or above .................. 16

Courses taken under the undifferentiated grading option (pass/no pass) will not be accepted toward fulfilling major requirements. Additional courses may be required as prerequisites. All courses used to satisfy the major requirements, whether taken in the program or in other departments, must be graded C- or above.

*In addition to courses offered in the Department of Theater Arts Film Studies curriculum, students may seek departmental approval to substitute elective coursework from relevant curriculum in digital media (Art) and music technology (Music), and/or from the approved course list for the interdisciplinary Minor in Film Studies.

Minor in Dance

Portland State University
School of Fine and Performing Arts
Department of Theater Arts

Overview

The minor in dance will support the existing Theater Arts, Music and Art degrees providing the opportunity for fine and performing art students, as well as those from any other schools/colleges and disciplines, to study dance. Courses will offer the opportunity to study the history, theory and practice of dance as an art form, cultural artifact and entertainment, with a particular emphasis on contemporary forms. The minor will require 28 credits of coursework, three core courses (12 credits) and 16 additional credits (8 of which must be at the upper division) chosen from a list of theater art and dance classes.

In an institution the size and scope of Portland State with a concomitant School of Fine and Performing Arts, it has been quite unusual to not have dance in the curriculum. The minor will bring back a fundamental art form that has been missing for over a decade. Dance is a vibrant and active art form in the greater Portland area, to some degree a result of the former program at PSU. There is currently a strong local ballet company (Oregon Ballet Theater), an international performing series (White Bird) and many local and regional choreographers in residence in Portland. Dance was a vibrant program with strong community ties when it existed prior to the 1992 budget challenges. The new minor will take advantage of the many opportunities to view and critique local, regional and international dance performances available on campus and in the community.

Bachelor's in Social Work (BSW) Program Proposal

Program Overview
The program proposed is a new Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Science degree in Social Work to be fully operational in 2008-09 with a cohort of 30 students admitted annually each fall. Concurrently the program is in application for initial accreditation by 2010 to ensure the first cohort graduates with an accredited degree. In addition to integrating current Child and Family Studies (CFS) courses and the rich interdisciplinary offerings of many University departments, the BSW courses included adaptations of existing social work curriculum. Our community partners and PSU students have expressed a need and desire for this degree for many years and the state's Department of Human Services (DHS) has funded program development. Approval of this proposal supports our community engagement and our students' access to affordable, high quality professional preparation in a career that addresses vital societal concerns.

Background and Rationale
- Student demand and interest in degree, specializations and career opportunities
- Client and community need for professionally prepared entry level workers
- Workers with high risk clients need knowledge, values and skills
- BSW graduates will have ethical accountability to clients and community
- CFS/SSW merger can now realize creative synergy and efficiencies
- Community partners are contributing stipends, practicums and shared research
- PSU's BSW complements regional BSW programs in private schools
- Benefits that accrue from accreditation: students eligible for "Advanced Standing"
- "Advanced Standing" option for graduate study saves time and money

All courses are 4 credits except as noted.
According to the Constitution of the PSU Faculty, the Educational Policy Committee (EPC) shall advise the Faculty Senate and the President on educational policies and planning for the University. The Committee shall:
1) Serve as the advisory board to the President and to the Faculty Senate on issues of policy and planning for the University,
2) Take notice of developments leading to such changes on its own initiative, with appropriate consultation with other interested faculty committees, and with timely report or recommendation to the Faculty Senate,
3) Receive and consider proposals from appropriate administrative officers or faculty committees for establishment, abolition, or major alteration of the structure or educational function of departments, distinct programs, interdisciplinary programs, schools, colleges, or other significant academic entities,
4) In consultation with appropriate Faculty committees, recommend long-range plans and priorities for the achievement of the mission of the University,
5) Undertake matters falling within its competence on either its own initiative or by referral from the President, faculty committees, or the Faculty Senate.

The EPC has conducted the following business since the Fall 2006 report:

- The response to the Faculty Senate on the Report of the Ad Hoc Committee on Faculty Governance (CFG) has been completed. That response is scheduled for presentation to the senate on March 5, 2007.

- Members of the EPC have brought before the committee the following questions for ongoing discussion:

  o Is the quality of education suffering under the current budget model?

  o Are there disadvantages for students and faculty resulting from the Co-Admission program with community colleges, and how will this program affect PSU?

  o What are the ramifications of abolishing the tuition plateau, and how does this change impact a liberal arts education at PSU?

The EPC invites members of the Faculty Senate to bring issues of concern to our attention, particularly plans related to the alteration of academic programs and developments that impact PSU standards of academic excellence.
RESPONSE TO THE FACULTY SENATE ON THE REPORT OF THE AD HOC COMMITTEE ON FACULTY GOVERNANCE DATED MAY 9, 2005

The Educational Policy Committee (EPC) has reviewed the original report of the ad hoc Committee on Faculty Governance (CFG) and discussed each of the eight issues identified in that document at length for our recommendations to the Faculty Senate. The major issues of concern in the report have been paraphrased below, along with EPC recommendations to the senate. The members of the 2006-07 EPC who have participated in formulating this response are:

Richard Beyler, LAS (HST) (2004-)
Alan Cabelly, SBA
Duncan Carter, LAS (CLAS)
Marek Elzanowski, MTH (2004-)
Sharon Elteto, LIB
Marcia Fischer, ECS (2004-)
Michael Flower, OI (HON)
Darlene Geiger, LAS (SPD) (2005-)
Brad Hansen, FPA (MUS) (2005-) Chairperson
Mindy Holliday, SSW (2005-)
Bee Jai Repp, XS (XS-Sal) (2005-)

RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE FACULTY SENATE

1. The need for consistency in the usage of terms such as “Centers” and “Departments,” and clarity in defining the role and authority of “Directors.”

The committee considers the matter resolved as far as the charge to investigate and pass new procedures through the senate for establishing and managing a center (institute, academy, laboratory) and defining the role of its director. While the work of the EPC in 2005-2006 resulted in clarification of these issues, embedded in the new center guidelines is a mandatory review process. According to this process, any center that did not require Faculty Senate approval must be reviewed every two years. Any non-academic center that did require Faculty Senate approval must be reviewed every four years. Moving forward, the concern of the EPC is that these reviews are indeed conducted thoroughly and according to schedule. A mechanism should be in place to assure that input from those involved in the centers is taken into consideration in the reviews. The Vice Provost for Research and Dean of Graduate Studies is charged with coordinating the reviews; the Provost’s office processes them with the participation of CADS+. The EPC feels that maintaining the review process is critical to the success of centers at PSU.
RECOMMENDATION

To facilitate the process of reviewing Centers, we recommend that the senate request a list of active Centers at PSU from the Vice Provost for Research and Dean of Graduate Studies, who is responsible for coordinating reviews of each Center. The list should contain the following information about each Center:

1. Does the Center require approval by Faculty Senate? The criterion is whether it "involves establishment or major alteration of the structure or educational function of departments." Centers may be reclassified upon review by EPC.

2. When was the Center established and when is it scheduled for review?

2. Faculty involvement in P&T decisions by program directors and deans

While this issue is also addressed by provisions in the new procedures passed by the senate for establishing and reviewing centers and directors, there was some discussion regarding whether a director was appointed or elected by faculty in a department or school, and how they are evaluated. The consensus was that there are mechanisms in place for addressing decisions made by directors or deans that are of concern to faculty.

Procedures for awarding P&T are clearly defined by the Provost’s office and Academic Affairs, and resolution of future issues lies there for departments and Deans. The Center review process evaluates procedures to be followed in each Center and the director’s role in the P&T process. If there is dissent, the grievance processes are in place and the faculty union is available to intercede.

THE EPC DOES NOT RECOMMEND ACTION BY THE SENATE.

3. Shared governance violations by administration

Since no specific issues are identified in the report, any response would be general. With notable exceptions involving prior administrators, allegations are vague and undocumented. In the future, if violations of shared governance such as those alluded to in the report are identified by concerned faculty members, they should be brought to the attention of the Faculty Senate for redress. The senate may choose to appoint a committee to investigate such matters, or refer them to a standing committee.

EPC members agreed that if a majority of senators deemed it necessary, an official review of the constitution could be undertaken by the appropriate bodies. This would be an expensive and time consuming venture. As with all the issues raised by the CFG report, EPC has attempted to distinguish problems that are systemic from those that are episodic.
THE EPC DOES NOT RECOMMEND THAT THE CONSTITUTION BE REVIEWED.

4. Repression of free expression in Faculty Senate meetings

The committee discussed channels for faculty senators and their constituents to make their views known privately, without concern for retribution. The steering committee is a primary vehicle for bringing matters of concern to the faculty before the senate as a whole. EPC members agreed that an atmosphere of inclusion rather than exclusion was preferable in the senate. The committee discussed the composition of the senate, and determined that substantive debate takes place in committees and is subsequently presented to the senate as a whole. While the CFG report suggested that a task force examine models of faculty representation at other institutions, EPC members did not feel that faculty representation was restricted or limited by the PSU constitution, if our existing model is allowed to function as it was intended.

Regarding the membership of the PSU faculty, the constitution currently states:

Membership in the PSU Faculty was for many years determined by academic rank, to include full-time faculty at the rank of Instructor or above. In 1994, the ranked faculty amended the Constitution, redefining PSU Faculty to include all non-classified full-time employees of the university holding, at a minimum, an earned Master's degree. All such individuals are entitled to participate in faculty governance with the exception that Ex officio members of the faculty may not serve in the Faculty Senate or on constitutional committees.

THE EPC CONCLUDES THAT THE COMPOSITION OF THE FACULTY SENATE IS APPROPRIATE, AND THAT CHANNELEs FOR UNIVERSITY FACULTY TO EXPRESS THEIR VIEWS ARE ADEQUATE.

5. Faculty Senate committee responsibilities

Faculty Senate committee responsibilities are indeed varied, from dealing with small details to addressing broad policy issues. These conditions are a result of the work that each committee is charged to conduct. EPC members reported that in some cases performing what may seem to be menial tasks allowed them to learn first-hand how our students are affected by academic policies.

An important related issue arose in discussion about faculty performing committee work. Tenure-track faculty serve on university committees as a part of their job, and are compensated for it. In the case of fixed-term faculty, who comprise a significant and increasing percentage of the faculty at large, there does not appear to be a consistent system of compensation or reward for this important work. This raised the question of how the interests and concerns of fixed-term faculty are addressed by the Faculty Senate.

THE EPC RECOMMENDS THAT THE COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES AND THE STEERING COMMITTEE REEVALUATE THE ROLES OF FACULTY ON SENATE
COMMITTEES, AND COLLECT SOME DATA FROM FACULTY SERVING ON COMMITTEES THAT DEAL WITH SUCH ISSUES AS STUDENT PETITIONS AND MINOR COURSE CHANGES. IF IT IS DETERMINED THAT FACULTY ARE ENGAGED IN INAPPROPRIATE TASKS, THE SENATE MAY DECIDE TO REVISE ITS CHARGE TO A COMMITTEE.

6. University-wide P&T committee

EPC members agreed that an additional level of review between the Deans and Provost would not essentially improve the process.

THE EPC DOES NOT RECOMMEND ESTABLISHING SUCH A COMMITTEE.

7. Recognition of faculty for governance work

The Hoffman award was identified as an existing form of recognition. Additional awards are not deemed necessary at this time.

INCREASED PUBLIC RECOGNITION OF FACULTY WHO ARE ACTIVE IN GOVERNANCE IS RECOMMENDED, BOTH TO REWARD FACULTY AND TO ENHANCE AWARENESS OF THEIR CONTRIBUTION TO THE UNIVERSITY.

8. Inclusion of non-instructional faculty on curriculum and policy committees

In the final analysis, decisions made by curriculum review, educational policy, and related committees impact the entire university community as it supports instructional activities. Administrators, librarians, information technologists, and those who work in a capacity that extends the campus all bring a valuable perspective. However, the ratio of instructional vs. non-instructional faculty serving on curriculum and policy committees is of concern.

THE EPC RECOMMENDS THAT THE COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES EVALUATE MEMBERSHIP ON CURRICULUM-RELATED COMMITTEES TO DETERMINE WHETHER A SUFFICIENT MAJORITY OF INSTRUCTIONAL FACULTY ARE IN PLACE TO INFORM DECISIONS REGARDING ACADEMIC ISSUES.

The eight issues identified above are of ongoing concern to the success and health of this academic institution, and both students and faculty will experience an impact resulting from decisions made regarding these issues. For the democratic process of self-governance to flourish, each member of the university community must be informed and involved. As representatives of our broadly defined faculty, senators are compelled to continue to address faculty concerns regarding governance issues.
