How Disparities Research can Influence Public Policy

Ann Curry-Stevens, Associate Professor
Director, Center to Advance Racial Equity

Portland State University
• Five-year history of partnered research
• Initiated by the Coalition
• Grant funding of $550,000
  – City, County
  – Foundations
  – PSU
  – In-kind contributions from Coalition members
Origins of the Research

• The context
  – Facing invisibility and exclusion in policy development
    • Rarely invited to the table
    • Once there, had to waste much time making the arguments for the needs of the community
  – Didn’t pass the “raised eyebrows” test
    • When shared information, suspicion was pronounced

• Needed
  – Community “licenses” the process and the product
    • Useful data & visibility

• University credentials build legitimacy
Where have disparities been uncovered?

1. Population counts
2. Education
3. Occupation
4. Unemployment
5. Poverty levels
6. Access to food banks
7. Government procurement and contracting
8. Small business numbers
9. Hiring in public service
10. Incomes
11. Wealth
12. Bankruptcy
13. Lending institutions
14. Housing discrimination
15. Voter registration and voting
16. Volunteering
17. Public office
18. Philanthropy funding
19. Police hiring
20. Juvenile Justice
21. Child welfare
22. Health insurance
23. Health disparities
24. Racial harassment
25. Health risk behaviors (varied results)
26. Criminal justice
27. Access to public housing
28. Homeless numbers

Communities of Color Coalition finds 'toxic' conditions for Multnomah County minorities
By Janie Har, The Oregonian
May 06, 2010, 5:33PM

A new report by a coalition of minority groups labels Multnomah County a “uniquely toxic place” for people of color, where minorities consistently lag behind whites on nearly every indicator, from poverty rates to jobs.

Conditions here are worse than in other parts of the country and continuing to slide, said lead researcher Ann Curry-Stevens, an assistant professor of the Graduate school of social work at Portland State University.

New Research on Urban Indian Community Arm
Leaders With Tools for Change
By Leah Gibson September 8, 2011

On November 2, policy makers, Native American leaders, National Congress of American Indian's conferece attendees and other Native professionals witnessed the release of the unique report The Native American Community in Multnomah County: an Unsettling Profile. This research is the product of a collaboration among the Coalition of Communities of Color, Portland State University, the Portland Indian Roundtable and the Portland urban Indian community, making it unique to this area.

Impacts of the Research

• Awareness
• Outcomes & impacts
  – Changing discourse about racial equity
  – Capacity building for the Coalition
    • Profile
    • Leverage
    • Leadership
    • Advocacy experience & strategy
    • Infrastructure
  – Community development
  – Leveraged resources
  – Policy development practices
  – Policy outcomes...
Examples of Policy Outcomes

- Philanthropic policy
  - 30% of funds from Regional Arts and Culture Council in “culturally-specific set-aside” allocation
  - Convergence Partnership (2010-12) for policy advocacy in Healthy Eating Active Living grants ($664,000)
  - Children’s Levy – ¼ of rating dedicated to proven ability to serve children of color (CCC and CARE provided metrics)
  - Racial equity policies being developed in most local foundations
    - Meyer – “Working towards equity at the center ... [of] revising the mission and vision”
    - Northwest Health Foundation – Racial equity at forefront of improving health

- Research reforms for visibility of communities of color
  - Multnomah County’s Visibility Initiative
  - House Bill 2134, “Race, ethnicity, language and disability demographic data collection standards”
  - Disparities research being embedded in government practices – City of Portland
  - Benchmarks for “equity” set in service access and outcomes – City of Portland

- Human Resources policies
  - Changed the stature of Equity Director at Metro – instead of HR, reports directly to COO
  - Participating in hiring committees for major leadership positions (not policy, but significant practice)
    - Foundation leadership (United Way, Oregon Community Foundation)
    - Equity staff (City of Portland, Metro)
    - School Board Superintendents (Reynolds School District)
Additional Policy Gains

• Economic-related policy
  – Worked with Mayor’s office to implement racial equity objectives in budget
  – 1500 new jobs by PDC, of which 30% to go to workers of color
    • Although significant (at ~ $37 million from job creation & multipliers), this is not beyond simply a fair share of investment
  – Exploring options for the City to expand recognition of foreign credentials
  – Community Benefits Agreement, directing staff to expand minority contracting in “large scale public works projects” (2012)

• Education policy
  – Catalyzed and supported PPS’s additional 4% “Equity Formula Allocation” to help close the achievement gap
  – 5/6 of local school districts have passed racial equity policies
  – Working with Superintendents to build policies to reduce discipline disparities

• Leveraged funds
  – Obtained $1 million (and additional $1.6 million in 2013) from Meyer Memorial Trust for leadership development (not policy, but supports policy advocacy)

• Helped create City of Portland’s Office of Equity and Human Rights (2011)
Center to Advance Racial Equity

1. Develop “Protocol for culturally-responsive services”
2. Determine the landscape of contracting for health and human services
3. Disaggregate student achievement data by race and income
4. Civil service workforce profiles
5. Granting Practices & Environmental Sustainability
6. Identifying “best practices” at the policy level for reducing racial disparities in education
7. Establish an evidence base of the needs and assets of newcomers of color to the region
8. Lit review on “government levers” to improve racial equity (employer, investor, policy maker...)
9. Evaluate Latino leadership development program
10. Improving food bank access for Asian community
Benefits

• Community
  – Get to make requests of academia for important research needs
  – Strengthens leverage and profile

• Students
  – Resume strengthening
  – Professional networks extended
  – Meaningful paid research

• PSU
  – Partnership and profile
  – Much greater community-validated legitimacy
  – Recruitment
